DRYS REFUSE TO MODIFY MEASURE

Prohibition Forces in House Vote Down All Amendments to Enforcement Bill.

NO 2.75 PER CENT BEER

Motion to Repeal Wartime Act Fails to Come to a Vote and Another Striking Out All Definition of Intoxicants Is Killed.

Washington, July 15.—Advocates of prohibition took complete control of the house, refused to permit a vote on a motion to repeal the wartime act, overwhelmingly defeated an amendment allowing sale of 2.75 per cent beer, and stood, solidly against all attacks on the general enforcement bill.

Just as fast as one "liberal" amendment was offered by opponents of prohibition, it was voted down without ceremony, always by a triple vote, for the minority, fighting every inch of ground, demanded a division after the ayes and nays were called and then asked for tellers. Before the house got through with the first section of the first part of the three-part bill there was more disorder on the floor than at any time this session.

Disorder Increases. The disturbance arose first during an attempt by Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, to speak a second time against an amendment which would have given a jury the right to define intoxicants and was increased during an address by Representative Galivan, Democrat, Massachusetts, who declared members voting dry should print in the Congressional Record exactly how much liquor they had stored in their homes and offices.

The real battle was over the amendment to define an intoxicant as a beverage containing more than 2 3/4 per cent alcohol, instead of one-half of one per cent as written in the bill. Representative Dyer, Republican, Missouri, author of the amendment, did not ask for this definition in the constitutional prohibition amendment, but simply in the wartime law. In pleading for its adoption, Mr. Dyer declared it was what President Wilson had recommended to congress and would permit, during the remaining period of wartime prohibition, the sale of light wines and beer and might delay issuance of a proclamation by the President which would restore the sale of "hard" liquor.

Round of Speechmaking. There was a round of speechmaking on this motion with the "drys" assailing it as an entering wedge and the "wets" asserting it merely would permit the very thing the President as commander-in-chief of the army had said was best for the country for the next six months.

After two and three-quarters beer had been bowled over by a record vote of 151 to 90—and this was about the relative division on all amendments—the prohibitionists went after another amendment by Representative Igoe, Democrat of Missouri, which would have stricken out all definition of intoxicants, killing the proposal, 128 to 83.

New York, July 15.—Judge Julius M. Mayer, in the United States district court, signed a final decree dismissing all damage suits against the Cunard Steamship Company as the result of the torpedoing of the Lusitania, and barring any similar suits which might be brought in future.

A total of 64 claims, totalling between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, had been brought against the company.

In his decree Judge Mayer intimated that the claimants might be reimbursed for their pecuniary losses through indemnities collected by the United States from the German government.

TORNADO DAMAGES CROPS

Crookston, Minn., July 15.—A number of buildings and crops valued at thousands of dollars were destroyed in Lockhart and vicinity as a result of a tornado and hail storm which hit that place. According to reports here the storm covered an area of about four miles in width at that place.

CABINET MEETING HELD TODAY TO DETERMINE ADMINISTRATION POLICIES

(By United Press)

Washington, July 15.—President Wilson today called a meeting of his cabinet for this afternoon. Attorney General Palmer was to see the President in advance of the general meeting, and may talk about the prohibition situation. When the cabinet meets the department heads are expected to bring to his attention any problems that may have become acute during his absence. The policy to follow with regard to government owned homes built during the war in several cities was to be decided. It is thought possible their sale to individuals will be authorized by the president.

The situation in Mexico is causing concern. Another policy which may soon be determined is to what extent the federal government will participate in the reconstruction of Europe. Secretary of Labor Wilson is expected to discuss the calling of an industrial congress to frame policies on strikes and lockouts.

Make League Withdrawal 1920 Campaign Issue

BY L. C. MARTIN, (Staff Correspondent, United Press)

Washington, July 15.—Foreseeing a complete victory for President Wilson in the senate some league of nations opponents today were discussing a plan to make the withdrawal from the league of nations by the United States an issue in the 1920 campaign. The proposal was nebulous, no one was openly sponsoring it, those who favor it to be ready to announce it, however, the moment they think they will receive party support. Senators who have talked this idea over point out that two years are required for actual withdrawal, and the issue in the election would be the giving of notice to the league of this country's intention to withdraw which would get us out in 1923. By that time these senators say, the United States would have done its share toward stabilizing Europe and will have the right to resume its nationalistic policy.

U. S. Trawler Buckley Sunk by Mine Six Men Killed
(By United Press)
Washington, July 15.—One officer and six men of the United States Trawler Richard Buckley were killed when the ship was sunk by a mine they were trying to sweep up in the North sea, off the coast of England Saturday. A guard of honor of Welsh guards and high British officials including Field Marshal Haig greeted the Americans. At Dover when the Americans arrived on a destroyer, the first vociferous welcome was staged.

LOCAL LODGE ACTS AS HOST

State Officers of Order to Accompany Him—Brainerd White Cross One of Oldest in State

Hon. Charles S. Davis, of Denver, Colorado, Supreme Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, will visit Brainerd, Wednesday, July 16, at which time the local lodge will act as host to visiting knights who are members of neighboring lodges. This is one of a series of four big district conventions being held in Minnesota, the other three conventions being at Minneapolis, Mankato and Duluth.

The highest executive of the Pythian order will be accompanied by Fred E. Wheaton, of Minneapolis, supreme keeper of records and seal; John B. Richards, of Mankato, grand chancellor of Minnesota, and Pliny W. McAllister, grand keeper of records and seal, Minneapolis.

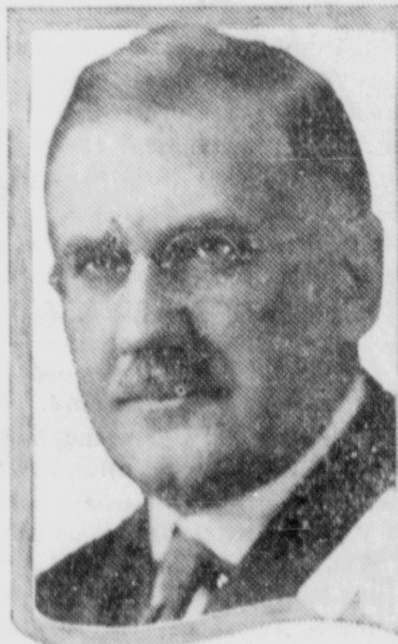

HON. CHARLES S. DAVIS Supreme Chancellor of Knights of Pythias to Visit Brainerd

White Cross Lodge No. 29, of this city, is one of the oldest lodges in the state, having been instituted October 20, 1883, from which time it has maintained an active and successful existence. While visits of high national officers are very rare in the experience of the average subordinate lodge, this is the second time during the past ten years when the supreme chancellor has been a guest in this city.

The Pythian order, as a fraternal institution, is one of the very largest of its character. It has a membership of nearly three-quarters of a million, principally in the United States and Canada, with 7,000 subordinate lodges and 55 grand lodges. Its financial assets, including buildings and investments, is in excess of twenty-three million dollars. During the great war over 50,000 members were enlisted in the service, and

DEMAND CLOSED SHOP

Seamen on Shipping Board Vessels Call General Strike.

Employees Reject Offer of an Increase in Wages and Shorter Working Day.

New York, July 15.—The threatened strike of men employed on vessels controlled by the United States Shipping board, has been called.

By this action, according to union officials, 50,000 seamen and thousands of stewards, cooks and other employees joined the ranks of those already on strike in the coastwise trade.

The shipping board offer of an increase in wages and shorter working hours in port was duplicated by the American Steamship association, which controls 75 per cent of the coastwise shipping, but the proposals failed to bring about a settlement.

Officials will make another effort to reach an agreement with the strike leaders. The principal bone of contention, the union heads say, is over the question of a closed shop, a principle which steamship association of officers have resolutely refused to concede.

CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY

Warrants Issued for New York and Chicago Lawyers.

Concord, N. C., July 15.—Charging conspiracy in the prosecution of Gaston B. Means, for the alleged murder of Mrs. Maude A. King and subornation of perjury in connection with the trial of Means in 1917, warrants were issued for John T. Dooling, assistant district attorney of New York, and William B. Miller, attorney for the Northern Trust Company of Chicago.

QUIET RESUMED AT FIUME

Italian Provost Marshal Maintaining Order.

Vienna, July 15.—Fiume is quiet, with the Italian provost marshal maintaining order. Few Italian soldiers are on the streets. The French remain in their barracks. Two French and two Italian warships are in the harbor. The city, it is said, is plastered with handbills reading: "Italy or death." The Italians, the reports say, accuse the French of meddling.

WOMAN ESCAPES JAIL TERM

Clerical Error in Court Record Invalidates Conviction.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 15.—Appearing at the district attorney's office to begin serving a 30-day jail sentence after failing to pay a $1,000 fine, Mrs. Lenora Warneson Moore, convicted of conspiring to defeat the draft law, was informed by District Attorney Wilson that, owing to a clerical error in the court record, she would not have to serve sentence.

TRAIN STRIKES AUTOMOBILE

Five Persons Are Killed and Three Others Injured.

Sioux City, Iowa, July 15.—Mrs. George Virgil and three of her children and a minister named Kennedy all of Gaze, Iowa, were killed when an Illinois Central railroad train struck the automobile in which they were riding. PAVING WAY FOR TREATY DEBATE

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Votes to Approve Three Resolutions.

ASK FOR INFORMATION

Measures Concern Shantung Decision, Alleged Secret Pact Between Japan and Germany and Failure to Allow Costa Rica to Sign.

Washington, July 15.—The senate foreign relations committee, paving the way for detailed consideration of the peace treaty, approved three resolutions asking President Wilson for information bearing on the Versailles negotiations.

The resolutions concern the Shantung settlement, and alleged secret understanding between Japan and Germany and the failure to recognize Costa Rica as a belligerent. That relating to the reported Japanese-German agreement will be called up for passage in the senate chamber, where the debate on the actual ratification of the treaty began with a display of bitter determination on both sides.

The committee took no action on President Wilson's suggestion that he explain directly disputed points of the peace settlement, though the President reiterated to his supporters his readiness to consult with the committee members.

Asked for Jap-German Pact.

In the resolution to be pressed for action, the president is asked for a copy of a treaty said in press dispatches to have been negotiated in 1918, by which Japan was to safeguard indirectly German interests at the peace conference. Before voting its favorable report, the committee added a request for "any further information concerning any negotiation between Japan and Germany during the progress of the war." The resolution was introduced by Senator Lodge, Republican, Massachusetts, chairman of the committee.

The Shantung resolution, introduced by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, would request a copy of a letter said to have been written on behalf of General Bliss, Secretary Lansing and Henry White, protesting against the treaty provisions affecting Shantung. Information also would be asked "with reference to the attempt of Japan or her peace delegates to intimidate the Chinese peace delegates."

The third resolution would inquire why Costa Rica "was not permitted" to sign the Peace treaty and whether Nicaraguan forces are "now permitted" to invade or threaten Costa Rican territory. The measure was presented by Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin.

ASKS IMPORTANT CHANGES

Director Would Make Service Insurance More Attractive.

Washington, July 15.—Important changes in the government insurance policies, to make them so attractive that every service man will retain his insurance after returning to civil life, have been recommended to congress by Director Cholmeley-Jones of the War Risk bureau.

Perhaps the most important change suggested, it was said, would give the insured the privilege of having his policy paid to the beneficiary in a lump sum or over a period of years as he chooses.

KILLS WIFE AND HIMSELF

Man Enraged Because Woman Acted as Strikebreaker.

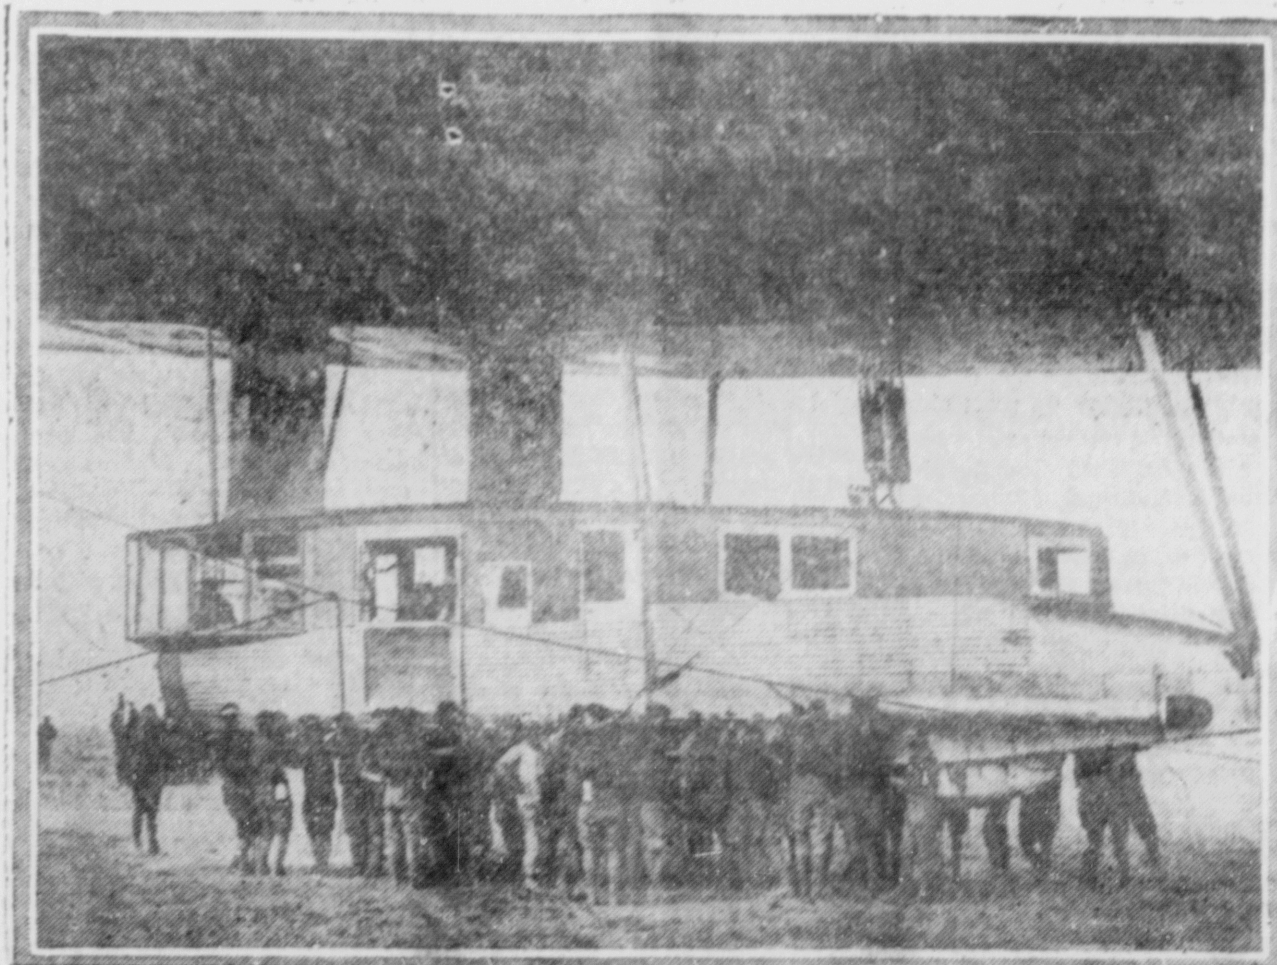

Portland, Ore., July 15.—When Mrs. Myrtle Harris, 35 years old, insisted on working at the telephone exchange as a strikebreaker, Al Harris, her husband, 60, became enraged and killed her. He then fatally wounded himself.

Harris, a union laborer, had entreated and then commanded his young wife not to work as a strikebreaker. When she refused, according to the police investigation, he fired two bullets into her body.

DECLARES COST REASONABLE

Officer Considers Price of Cantonments Not Excessive.

Washington, July 15.—Cost of constructing army cantonments during the war was not excessive, the house investigating committee was told by Brigadier General Marshall, chief of the War department's construction division. General Marshall said that under the cost plus system, the "government got as near a dollar's worth for every dollar spent as it were to begin the construction today."

This photograph of the middle gondola of the R-34, taken while the British dirigible was at anchor at Mineola, Long Island, gives a very good idea of the size of the transatlantic flying speck when the R-34 is in flight but the soldiers and sailors crowded about it look small. They are helping to refuel the giant dirigible.

 BRAINERD'S OLDEST STORIES OF TODAY *****

The shops this week carried away the prize for the oddest story. It appears that a south side worker has a dinner bucket which closely resembles the nail in which tea is brewed in his home. One morning he awoke to work and grabbed his supposed dinner container, marched to the shops and at the noon hour, almost famished, because he had worked hard, he grabbed for his pail and was astounded to find he had grabbed up the tea pail. It did seem funny to all his associates, but it wasn't so funny to the shop man, hungry enough to eat wire nails, who had to race home for his dinner and back again before the whistle blew. He has now lashed the two pails, "This is Dinner Bucket," and "This is Tea Pail."

A busy caterpillar with an unreasonable appetite devoured all the leaves from a silver willow tree in Gregory park, in half a day. Children have been enlisted to exterminate the caterpillar and rid the park of the pest.

the order is credited with Liberty loan subscriptions to the extent of over $2,000,000, from lodges and members, and almost as large an amount contributed to the Red Cross, Y. M. C. Up to the signing of the armistice, members voluntarily contributed $300,000 for a special war relief fund, and this in addition to a relief expenditure last year of nearly $1,500,000.

The year 1920 will be an eventful Pythian year in Minnesota, in that it marks the semi-centennial of the institution of the first lodge in this state, and for the first time in the order's history the supreme lodge, chief legislative body, will hold its regular biennial convention in Minnesota, which convention will be held in Minneapolis, in August, next year.

The Unknown Quantity.

When a thing like that happens a man does not know exactly where he is or how he feels. The largeness and the smallness of the world amaze him; the mystery of life bewilders him; he is confused in the presence of the unknown quantity. How he behaves, what he says or does, depends entirely upon instincts beyond his control. This is what happened to Richard when he heard the voice of Carol.—Henry Van Dyke.

Guarded Natural Resources.

"The Indians of Kentucky," says Dr. Clark Whistler, "were in the habit of burning off forest areas regularly so as to provide pasturage for the buffalo, thus enticing him to remain in the country." Again, the Indians living in the regions where wild rice grows, were observed to take certain precautions to protect the rice beds, even to facilitating their growth."

WOMAN'S REALM

THE POACHER

By MILDRED WHITE

Della brought her car to a stop, and sat up with a gasp of surprise. There before her at the bend of the road was the original of her favorite picture. She had not fancied, as she often admiringly gazed at the beautiful water color of a quaint old house, that the house could possibly be real. More was it like an idealization of an artist.

The picture had drawn her from its first hanging on the walls of the art store. Since then, it occupied the best wall space in Della's own room.

She had ridden far, lost in her disappointed thought, far beyond the well-kept state road into the rough one of the outskirts. Its unevenness had passed by unnoticed, as she wondered for the hundredth time, why her latest story had failed to please.

Della had counted much upon that story. Heretofore she had been fortunate in selling, what did this story lack? If she might go over it again, wholly concentrating her thoughts, Della smiled cynically; where in the hubbub of her society home might she find concentration? Now she knew what had caused her failure, the constant call to other things. And as if in answer to her conclusion before her suggestively loomed the isolated house.

She was out of the car in a bound, a shrewd old Scotswoman coming to open the deep set door, waited to learn Della's errand.

"It is so restful here," she explained breathlessly. "I wonder if you might be persuaded to take me for a few weeks as a boarder?"

The neat Scotswoman considered. "Well now," she said, "I'll ask Sandy."

Sandy, her kindly old husband, was quickly agreeable.

"What harm," he asked, "when we are alone?"

So arrangements were made for Della to come upon the following day. Installed in her hammock back along the hollyhocks, the Scotswoman left the girl with one injunction:

"If you see any trespassers," she cautioned, "whistle for Sandy. There's been many lately, coming to filch our fruit or to fish in our stream. The stream mustn't be disturbed."

"I'll whistle," Della promised, and she left her hammock to examine the stream.

The water color had given no promise of this stream. It went rippling merrily on beyond the furthest trees. It looked invitingly cool on this hot summer day. Della was possessed of an unruly desire herself to dangle a line and to filch the fine fruit. She sat still instead, watching a "prize catch" which came nearer and nearer. And just as it came very near, a man's voice whispered roughly:

"Don't startle him, I'm going to throw a line."

The man himself immediately came into view; his khaki trousers were covered with mud, an old felt hat shaded his bold, dark eyes.

"Don't you dare!" cried Della; she clapped her hands to frighten the fish. The man turned on her impatiently, then seeing her flushed cheeks and indignantly glowing eyes, he smiled.

"Well—" he began, "what do you mean by that?"

"I mean," Della answered steadily, "that you are trespassing and that you must have read the forbidding signs outside the wall."

"I did," the man admitted. "And yet you deliberately came to fish." She decided to whistle for Sandy.

"Did you intend," she added sarcastically, "to also help yourself to the fruit?"

"To a few of those choice plums perhaps," the man replied. He calmly suited the action to the word.

"What right have you to object?" the poacher questioned, he was smiling.

"I live here," Della answered briefly.

It was the man's turn to stare. He did so unreservedly, while the perplexity of his gaze gave way to frank admiration.

"Live here?" he repeated.

Sandy's burly figure came crashing through the brambles.

"Girl!" he muttered, "what a scare ye gave me; I thought ye needed help. But if master's here—"

"Hello Sandy," pleasantly greeted the man, "who may I ask, is this young lady who informs me that my house is her place of residence?"

Sandy flushed. "She's just a bit of a boarder," he said, "the wife and I thought it no harm to take her in for a while sir, you not being expected home so soon an' all."

"All right," the man answered with a brusque gesture of dismissal.

Della came close to him, raising to his, her lovely, embarrassed face.

"You called it your house?" she questioned.

The man bowed, his smile was strangely reassuring.

"I'm an artist," he explained. The old place took my fancy and I bought it so that I might come out sometimes to paint. Sandy and his wife are my faithful caretakers.

"May I tell you," Della asked, "how I happened to come here? It is really quite wonderful!"

And later when the two went stammering up the garden path together, the sunflowers nodding their golden heads at each other, seemed to smile. (Copyright, 1919, Western Newspaper Union)

SCHEME DIDN'T WORK RIGHT

Business Man's Pleasant Evening
Nothing at All Like What He Planned It Should Be.

"Gosh," exclaimed the business man, "I had the disappointment of my life last night. Even this sunny morning can't take away the sting. For the past month I don't believe I have had one nice, quiet, peaceful night at home—an evening of perfect relaxation. It seemed longer than that."

"Yesterday morning, with the thought that at the end of the day I would be free, my step to the office was more springy than usual. Not a business nor social engagement did I have. If anybody had attempted to start anything in either line I would have said, 'Nothing doing, I am going to be busy,' and I would have finished the sentence to myself with 'at home.'"

"I felt like a lark all day. 'Nothing to do tonight,' I kept repeating to myself, 'nothing at all; absolute freedom. I will catch up on the magazines that have been accumulating. I will take up the book that I haven't looked into for so long that I have forgotten who the characters are. I will sit in my favorite soft, easy, sunken-down chair under the reading lamp. I will don my dressing gown and slippers. I will luxuriate all evening—a nice, quiet, long evening.'"

"I could hardly wait for dinner to be over. When it was, I immediately set about doing all that I had planned. I relaxed, groaning with comfort into my chair. My dog curled up at my feet, something he had not done for a month, too. I went to my reading. I read for an hour. And then, darn it all I got so blasted sleepy that I couldn't hold my eyes open. I just had to go to bed. I hated to do it and I was thoroughly disgusted. But there was no help for it. And there you are; my glorious evening completely ruined because I was too sleepy to enjoy it."—Providence Journal.

Only Rich Riches.

There is no wealth but life; life, including all its powers of love, joy and of admiration. That country is the richest which nourishes the greatest number of noble and happy human beings; that man is richest who, having perfected the functions of his own life to the utmost, has also the widest helpful influence, both personal and by means of his possessions, over the lives of others.—Ruskin

Surely Drafty.

There are all sorts of different ways of bringing a thing home to people. Take the case, for instance, of a member of the Essex district council in England, recently, who wanted to enable his fellow-councillors to realize the shameful disrepair of a certain cottage near by. It was so drafty, he said, that tunes could be played on a mouth organ moved up and down along cracks in the walls.

In the face of rapidly increasing prices and an assurance of a scarcity this fall beyond parallel, our present showing of room-size and small rugs in Velvets, Ax-ministers, Wiltons and American Orientals is particularly interesting. Our highest grade Wiltons such as the Karnak and Arbedil priced at $125 in the 9 x 12, are $25 under the price which the present market warrants. Our small rugs present a variety in patterns, colorings and weaves which can be found nowhere this side of the twin cities, at the prices made possible only by volume buying months ago. And your credit is good.

BRAINERD, CONVENTION CITY

Brainerd is fast gaining a reputation as a convention city.

Last week the Minnesota Veterinary Medical Association had a profitable two days' session in Brainerd. Dr. C. A. Nelson, as president of the association, did much to secure the convention and Brainerd Chamber of Commerce and citizens generally helped to entertain the delegates.

The Dispatch featured this convention and was given a nice mention in the resolutions for the publicity accorded.

The Sons of Norway First District convention followed and Sagatun Lodge members headed by H. B. Olson, Carl Olson, O. B. Rasmussen and O. P. Stene did much to secure this convention and aided by the Chamber of Commerce, Sagatun Lodge and citizens generally did much to entertain them and to make the stay of the convention in the city and vicinity a most pleasant and profitable one. The Dispatch was praised in special resolutions for the publicity accorded. The fact that the convention proceedings took place entirely in Norwegian proved no bar to the indefatigable reporting end of the Dispatch.

Delegates by the score took home Brainerd Dispatches as souvenirs of a splendid convention and for mention in their home papers in Minnesota, South Dakota and Iowa, thus giving Brainerd further publicity of the highest value.

On Wednesday, July 16, Brainerd is proud to welcome here a district convention of the Knights of Pythias, sharing in such honors with Minneapolis, Mankato and Duluth.

Hon. Charles S. Davis, Supreme Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, accompanied by state officers of the order, will be guests of the local lodge. White Cross Lodge No. 30 of Brainerd is one of the oldest lodges in the state and its officers will demonstrate to the noted visitors that the latch string of No. 30 swings freely and that old-time hospitality is just as warm and inspiring as in the day of old.

WATCH CREATION OF FLORA

Botanists Intensely Interested in Nature's Work on Volcano Island in Bombon Lake, Luzon.

The destruction of vegetation in isolated regions is a matter of great interest to botanists, who are making increasing efforts to observe the creation of the new flora taking the place of the old. Volcano Island, in Bombon Lake, Luzon, was chiefly covered by grasses and small trees before the eruption of the Taal volcano in 1911, but the eruption destroyed all plant life except some clumps of bamboo and a few bananas in the northern part of the island. In a report on the re-vegetation W. H. Brown, E. D. Merrill and H. S. Yates note that in six years 29 vascular plants had been recorded, the chief species being a few grasses. Of the total, 54 per cent were probably introduced by birds, about 29 per cent by the wind and about 10 per cent by the water—a different showing from that of the more exposed island of Krakatau, in the Strait of Sunda, where the chief work

WILSON'S VETO IS SUSTAINED

House Fails to Override Action of President for Saving of Daylight.

NEW TIME TO CONTINUE

Members to Number of 247 Favor Re-passing Bill Over Executive's Veto, 23 Short of Required Two-thirds.

Washington, July 15.—The agricultural appropriation bill, with its rider repealing the daylight saving law, failed of passage in the house over the veto of President Wilson.

The vote was 247 to 135, or 23 affirmative votes less than the required two-thirds. One member voted present.

After the vote the bill was referred to the agricultural committee. It probably will be reported to the house later minus the rider.

Party Lines Broken.

Champ Clark and Claude Kitchen, as well as many other democrats, voted against the president.

Chairman G. N. Haugen of the agricultural committee said before the vote was taken, if the veto was not overruled, the president would have to accept the political responsibility for saving the plan, which brought bitter opposition from the farming districts.

Other Veto Before Committee.

The appropriations committee was to consider the veto of the sundry civil bill, because it did not carry enough, in the president's view, for vocational work among soldiers.

Chairman J. W. Good stated he is willing to grant the increase of from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 the president desires, but insists on limiting the salaries of the board in charge of this work. It was believed the bill would be again returned to the house with such a provision.

A rider on the agricultural appropriation bill, which was vetoed, would have repealed the daylight saving law late in October. If the law stands unchanged, daylight saving will go into effect in March, 1920, as heretofore.

MAY COME TO TWIN CITIES

Wilson Expected to Visit Minneapolis and St. Paul on Tour.

Washington, July 15.—President Wilson's itinerary in his tour of the states in behalf of the League of Nations will probably include the twin cities, it is learned. A complete schedule of his trip was expected to be made this week.

According to the tentative plans, it was learned, the tour will start July 23. He probably will not visit New York or New England, spending all of his time in the midwest and western states.

It was practically assured, it was learned, that speeches will be made at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Chicago, Kansas City, Wichita, the twin cities, Denver and several cities on the Pacific coast.

Nebraska Official Refuses to Accept "Wet" Petitions.

Lincoln, Nebr., July 15.—Petitions requesting a referendum vote next year on the action of the Nebraska legislature in ratifying the federal prohibition amendment were rejected when presented to Secretary of State D. M. Amesbury. The secretary said he refused to allow the petitions to be filed on the ground that the legislature's action in ratifying the prohibition amendment was not subject to submission to a vote under the state's referendum law.

HISTORIC PLACE TO BE PRESERVED

CONSTITUTION ISLAND IN HUDSON RIVER BECOMES PROPERTY OF GOVERNMENT.

HOME OF WARNER SISTERS

House Has Interest to Government Outside of That Connected With Famous Authors—Figures Prominently in History of Revolution.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Constitution island in the Hudson river, only a few minutes' boat pull from West Point, is a long ways from Washington, but Washington, at that, today is taking a deep interest in this wooded isle which for years was the home of those sister writers whose fame still endures—Susan and Anna B. Warner.

Today the United States government owns Constitution island. Governments are not sentimental, although the officials of government frequently are so. Uncle Sam wanted Constitution island as one of his possessions, but for economic reasons did not purchase it. Finally through the generosity of Mrs. Russell Sage and Miss Anna B. Warner, who survived her sister a good many years, the island was purchased and given to the government of the United States.

Washington is watching with interest the efforts of the Martineau's Rock association to secure funds for the preservation of the Warner house on Constitution island. The house has an interest for the government, not only because it was the home of two women whose influence on the lives of many of the cadets at West Point was markedly for good, but because the old residence contains as one of its constituent parts a wall of an old Revolutionary fortification.

To Preserve Historic Home.

The earliest history of Constitution island goes to show that it once was the property of a man named Martineau—hence Martineau's Rock association, the name of the organization which under the leadership of Mrs. Charles E. Tracy of Highland Falls, New York, was organized and is working to arouse interest in the preservation of the Warner house, and to arrange, label, and care for the furniture, books, and other objects of value that belonged to the Warner family.

I was a cadet at West Point when Susan Warner and her sister Anna lived in the old home on Constitution island. They had lived there from girlhood, had known all kinds of hardship, and yet, with a serenity of hope, coupled with a spirit of endurance and of labor, surmounted their trials and became the instruments of far-reaching good in the world.

Every Sunday afternoon a certain number of cadets were allowed to go to the Warner home. There these women of a gentle religion taught it in a lasting way to their young soldier guests.

I was asked to write a little something about the effort to save the Warner home, and the request was as grateful to me as my poor response is heartfelt. Throughout the United States there are still living thousands upon thousands of people who read Susan Warner's "The Wide, Wide World." It was published in 1849, and was, as Lyman Abbott has put it, one of the "best sellers."

"The Wide, Wide World" was read throughout the wide, wide world. The success of the book brought relief from pressing poverty to the Warner sisters. It was left to a woman, the mother of one of the publishers who happened to read the manuscript, to recommend its publication and to prevent its loss to the American public.

Susan Warner wrote many other books and her sister Anna added her contributions to the literature of the time. Contributions to the fund for the preservation of the Warner home have come from far-off places in the world from persons who read "The Wide, Wide World," and whose interest in the author of this and of the other Warner works never has failed.

Kept Hudson Safe.

It was on Constitution island that Washington's bodyguard was mustered out of the service on December 20, 1783. The fortifications were built in response to a resolution of the Continental congress that a bodyguard

AMUSEMENTS

At the Best Today

In the early part of "Under the Top," the new Artcraft picture starring Fred Stone, which will be shown at the Best theatre today, the famous comedian has to do a dive down a rope from a church steeple. The scene comes when he, as Jimmie Jones, a young village painter, quits for the noon hour. Fred came down the rope the rope head-first at break-neck speed, while three cameras "shot the scene," and numerous people about the Lasky studio watched breathlessly, wondering if he would land safely. He did, and everyone agreed that when it came to doing startling stunts, Fred Stone was in a class by himself.

This is one of many similar hair-raising features which Mr. Stone performs throughout the action of "Under the Top." As Jimmie, he loves Pansy McNeill, a circus girl whose guardians plot to deprive her of her inheritance by wedding her to one of them. They cause her to be hypnotized and the marriage is to be celebrated while she is in a hypnotic trance. But Jimmie takes a hand in the proceeding with the result that the villains are foiled.

Mr. Stone's leading woman is Elia Hall, a beautiful and talented actress, and chief among the supporting players are Sylvia Ashton, James Cruze, Guy Oliver, Charles Ogle, Noah Beery, Jane Wolff and J. Cummings.

At Best Tomorrow

An excellent supporting cast appears with Dorothy Gish in "Boots," the picture manager of the Best theatre has selected for tomorrow. Richard Barthelmess, who will be remembered as having appeared in "The Hope Chest," with Miss Gish, and the "Bab" series with Marguerite Clark has the lead opposite the saucy little star.

Raymond Cannon, who played the part of the country lover opposite Miss Gish in "Battling Jane," and the part of the soldier chum in D. W. Griffith's Artcraft production "The Great Thing in Life," is a Bolshevik leader. Fontine La Rue, the famous French character actress, plays the "heavy" opposite Miss Dorothy, and Kate V. Toneray, who also appeared in "Battling Jane," has the part of the London landlady.

Pardon Recalls Famous Crime.

A famous crime is recalled by the granting of a decree of pardon to a large number of convicts in Italy. Among those thus pardoned are Doctor Naldi and Tullio Murri, who were sentenced in connection with the murder of Count Bonmartini, Murri's brother-in-law. Count Bonmartini, a Bologna spendthrift, who frequently quarreled with his wife, was found in his flat with his throat cut, in August, 1902. The trial, lasting six months, of the countless and four accomplices in the murder, in 1905, aroused enormous interest throughout Italy. All the prisoners were confined in a steel cage in front of the judge's tribune. Tullio Murri, the countess' brother, declared that he remonstrated with the count for ill-treating his wife, and killed him in a quarrel that followed. He was sentenced to 20 years' solitary confinement. Doctor Naldi, a friend of Murri's, received the same sentence. He declared that his part in the crime was to cut the corpse in pieces, but that this was not done owing to the date arranged for the murder being altered. The countess, who was sentenced to ten years' solitary confinement, was released in 1909.

NEW SCHOOL IN WEST BRAINERD

Contract for Erection of the Building is Let to John E. Jackson for $5275

TO BE A ONE-ROOM SCHOOL
Building is to be Located on High Ground Two Blocks from the Wagon Bridge

The contract for the erection of the new school in West Brainerd was let Monday evening by the board of education to John E. Jackson, for $5,275. It is to be a one-room school capable of being enlarged and will be built under plans prepared by the state. Mixed grades will be taught.

The building will be located on high ground two blocks from the wagon bridge and will have a small library attached and coat rooms for the boys and girls. A full basement will be built. The school fills a real need in West Brainerd as a school there has been desired for some time by residents whose little children had a difficult time in winter to walk across the bridge to the other distant city schools.

AT SUMMER SCHOOL

D. T. Lawrence, Local Y. M. C. A. Secretary, Returns from School Held at Lake Geneva

D. T. Lawrence arrived home yesterday from the Lake Geneva (Wisconsin) Summer Schools of the Young Men's Christian Association College, where he was a student in the school of Association Personnel. Others schools in session were the School of Boys' Work, City Association Work, Industrial Work, Physical Education, Railroad Association Work and Student Work.

Thirty-six years ago some Association leaders were attracted by the large spring at the edge of the beautiful lake, and the formation of the land around it into a natural amphitheatre, and conceived the idea of the Y. M. C. A. Camp. From seven acres it has grown to an encampment of seventy-five acres, with accommodations for nearly a thousand people.

During the Student Young Men's Christian Association conference just preceding the Summer School, there was a total enrollment of 961 men from 121 colleges and 28 nations. Even though the men in attendance come primarily for the classes and conference, they thoroughly enjoy the out-of-door life in tents. There are eleven tennis courts, thirty rowboats, sail boats, an athletic field and golf course.

The Lake Geneva platform has included many speakers of renown. Bishop William Frazier McDowell spoke at his twenty-fifth successive Student Conference. He has missed just one during the year he was on his world tour, and on his return the next year said: "I am glad to get back again to the center of the world", and in explanation said that everywhere he went he found one or more persons who had heard him at Lake Geneva.

Raymond Robins gave several stirring messages. John R. Mott, E. T. Colton (recently from Russia), Dr. C. W. Gilkey, Dr. Little of Evanson, Graham Taylor, and many others spoke at the Sunday morning services in the Lewis Auditorium, or at the Life Work Meeting by the lake shore.

A special feature of the schools this year was a series of conferences—the Industrial Work Conference, where many employers and department managers conferred on the best ways of developing character in men; the Mid-West Physical Directors' Conference, Gynnasium Leaders Conference, Personnel Conference. The war and its conclusion made many problems which call for readjustment of program, or advance move all along the line.

One cannot attend these conferences without being thoroughly convinced that the Y. M. C. A. leaders are energetically alive to the needs of this day, and are seeking to place the great force of the Association Movement at the service of man.

BOOSTER ENVELOPES TO AID BRAINERD

Carries on its Face Scenes Intended to Show Outing Features of This Locality

PRICE FOR SAME VERY LOW
Business Men, Hotel Owners, Restaurant Keepers Should Lay in a stock of Same

100,000 booster envelopes purchased through the Publicity Committee of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce have been shipped here and the committee are now placing them with public spirited citizens of this city.

The envelope is very neat in appearance and carries on the face scenes intended to show the industries of Brainerd and the outing features of this locality. The committee has placed these envelopes with the different print shops of the city where they may be ordered and the name of the purchaser placed on the back of the envelope for return purposes.

It is felt by the committee that every business man, hotel owner and restaurant keeper should take a quantity of these envelopes. The price for the same has been made very low, and in fact is not more than the cost of the plain envelopes. The co-operation of the public in this matter is urged.

ELKS PICNIC AT LITTLE FALLS

Brainerd Elks to Visit the Little Falls Lodge Picnic on Thursday, July 17th

GALA DAY HAS BEEN ARRANGED
P. J. Vasaly and "Bill" Beattie in Herculean Stunts of Rope Climbing

Little Falls Elks have staged their annual picnic at Pine Grove, Little Falls, on Thursday, July 17. Many Brainerd Elks and families expect to visit Little Falls that day said Exalted Ruler Fred T. Sanborn of the Brainerd Lodge and will see the Little Falls Elks at play. The Little Falls Transcript gives this mention of the coming picnic:

The attraction offered by the committee on sports for the annual Elks' picnic in Pine Grove Thursday, July 17, are probably among the best that could be secured in this country. The following attractions alone make it well worth one's while to journey to the secluded and restful pine park that on Thursday will bristle with antlered citizens.

The 100 yard dash, which will be run by two eminent citizens, Stub Wright and Hank Scholtz, promises to be far above the average in local stepping. There is a divergence in opinion as to whether or not Stub should be given a handicap of 10 yards. It feels, however, that his speed will overcome any difference resulting from smaller pedal capacity and emphatically declines the ten.

Between Pete Vasaly and Bill Beattie the rope climbing stunt, which has been made possible by a vast expenditure of rope, will undoubtedly eclipse anything of this nature ever seen in the city. It will be partly in the nature of a competition and partly as a memorial to the grand Daniel Boone, who successfully crossed a stream at night by swinging from a grape vine.

There will also be plenty of competitive sports for the young people and kiddies. Foot races of several kinds and distances will be offered for boys and girls with cash prizes for first and second winners. There will also be hurdle races and a ball throwing contest for girls.

There will be several booths, stores and game racks and novelties.

OUTDOOR WORSHIP
Record Attendance Recorded at Gregory Park on Sunday Evening

The services in Gregory park again recorded a breaking of the attendance. It was by far the largest crowd that has yet attended the meetings. The Baptist men graciously carried over a number of chairs and all were used in addition to the seats which have cared for the crowd heretofore. The organ added much to the singing.

Rev. E. A. Cooke was the speaker and had close attention as he spoke of the Bible and its influence upon the world.

Rev. Frederick Errington of the First Congregational church will speak on next Sunday evening. A hearty invitation is given to all to join in these services.

The South Side open air service last evening was well attended and proved to be a very interesting service. Rev. Hostager gave a splendid sermon and the singing was especially good. Rev. Lowrie presided and he made the announcements. Next Sunday Rev. P. G. Fallquist of the Swedish Bethany church will be the speaker and there will be a special service.

BIG CROPS FOR CROW WING COUNTY

Rye has Ripened Considerably and Several Fields Have Already been Harvested

WHEAT, OATS ARE FILLING OUT

Corn is Head High in Some Fields, Potatoes Doing Fine, Haying in Progress Now

By E. G. ROTH
(County Agricultural Agent)

The past week has shown big results in the crops of the county. Rye has ripened considerably, several fields have already been harvested. The yields of the grain cut show them to be filled well and heavy.

Haying has been in progress all over the county and the fields of tame grasses, where a catch was secured last year, are yielding an unusually large amount of hay. The dry windy weather of the past week helped cure the hay. The rain of Sunday evening, however, probably caught many fields that were allowed to cure in the windrow or cock over Sunday.

Wheat and oats are filling out in good shape, altho many oat fields are not promising as good a yield as they did a few weeks ago, due to excessive moisture at one time, followed by extreme heat, causing a scalding of the leaves. This is not true, however, in all oat fields but is true of a few in the more sandy areas.

Corn is head high in many fields and is tasseling out. One of Crow Wing's best corn crop yields is predicted. Many silos are being built thruout the county as a result of the corn promises.

Potatoes are doing fine, with the Potato Bug season nearly over. Some farmers report having already eaten new potatoes. Now during the blossoming time, is the time to inspect the fields for purity of potatoes and selecting for seed stock. You may have them certified by using this time as one inspection. Write to the Potato Certification Board, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn. for a seed inspector. Better markets may be secured for certified potato seed.

The succeeding week promises to be an unusually busy one for farmers. Haying and harvest with the labor shortage calls all hands to the work.

Any one wishing a job on the farm call at the County Agent's office in the Iron Exchange Building, boys or men. Good jobs on the farm are listed there and good wages offered. Apply at once.

PARK RAPIDS

Team Makes Poor Showing at Little Falls, Is Defeated 11 to 0—Only Got 4 Hits

Park Rapids was defeated 11 to 0 by Little Falls in the Sunday game at Little Falls. It was a decidedly one-sided affair. Little Falls put a big crimp in the series of victories Park Rapids has been gaining.

As Park Rapids defeated Bemidji, the casual observer wonders what kind of a nine Bemidji must have. Woods, of Little Falls, struck out 16, being two each inning except one in the fifth and ninth.

"The much talked of Park Rapids team either had an exceedingly bad day, or they were out of their class, and the latter seems the most plausible conclusion to those who saw the Sunday contest," says the Little Falls Transcript.

The Brainerd base ball roster for out of town players shows the names of Roy Patterson and Fuller. The former will be remembered as one of Minneapolis' star hurlers in the American Association. Patterson may oppose Wood in our next tangle with Brainerd and if he does it will be a battle worth going many miles to see.

CUBAN PLAYERS ARE TAKING VITAL PART

Cuban players are going to play a vital part in the National league race this season. Mike Gonzales, catcher of the Giants, formerly of the St. Louis Cardinals, gradually is rounding into his best form and promises to play a leading part in the Giant campaign; Adolfo Luque, pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, shows signs of future value and has one of the fastest breaking curves in the league, while Oscar Tuero of the Cardinals, showed his class in a recent game at the polo ground when he quelled the Giants and later subjugated the Dodgers in a hard-fought battle at Ebbets field. Armando Marsans, the Yankee veteran, has faded from the big league picture, but reports from Cuba indicate a big increase in ball players who aim to invade the big league in this country.

batter, and when it is working good it breaks in toward the right-handed hitters rather than away from them.

CONNIE MACK WAS MISTAKEN

Manager's Prediction That He Would Assemble Strong Team So Far Has Not Materialized.

When Connie Mack disrupted his great team after the 1914 world's series, selling Collins, Baker, Barry, Shawkey and Murphy and casting adrift Bender, Plank and Coombs, he said: "I'll have players just as good two years from now." But Connie has now discovered that roses do not grow on every bush. After four consecutive tailenders since 1914 he seems to have a team this year that is even more of a joke than some of his previous clubs. Last year Connie had a respectable tailender. One can't even say that for this year's team.

History Repeats Itself.

History repeats itself in baseball as well as in world politics. Last spring after the Dodgers lost their first nine games the Giants broke their losing streak for them. This spring after the Braves lost their first nine games the Giants again were willing to appease suffering and lost a game to Boston.

Braves Sell Two Players.

The Boston National league club announced the sale of Outfielder A. Wick and to St. Paul, and Outfielder Joe Kelly to Toledo, both of the American Association.

JIM SHAW EQUALED RECORD

Slammed Homers Off Pitchers Seibold and Kinney of Athletics in Successive Innings.

When Jim Shaw of Washington, on May 2, slammed homers off Seibold and Kinney of the Athletics, in successive innings, Jim equaled a major league record that has stood since June 30, 1912, for on this latter date, Ed Willett, the Tigers' star hurler of long ago, while pitching for Detroit, slammed a single and a pair of round trips off Moeridge and Jordan, the White Sox hurlers. A delve through the National league for 15 years back failed to show a hurler that equaled this stunt.

NATURE'S MIRROR

When a woman is well and healthy—there's a sparkle in her eyes, a rose tint in her cheeks, and she has rich red blood. There's elasticity in every movement and a spring in her step. the freak delivery over a period of many years in the big show.

Jack Warhop, who used to sling for the Yanks; Rhines of the old Cincy Reds, and McGinnity of Giant fame were pitchers who resorted to the underhand method of hurling a baseball, and though there have been a number of pitchers who have tried that style of twirling, the four mentioned here rank as the peers of their class.

Mays graduated to the Red Sox in 1915, coming up from the Providence club, and right off the reel he proved a winner, winning 24 games and losing but eight in his first season. His delivery is a puzzle to American league batters, and unless we miss our guess he is going to be one of Ed Barrow's best bets on the mound this season.

Mays has a fast ball, regardless of the fact that to the fan in the grandstand it may look more like a slow one. His best ball is known among the members of the Red Sox as the screw ball, which is a new one. It is so called because it is alleged to twist as do the threads of a screw. It twirls sideways in coming up to the
